Exciting News

Starting on Tuesday September 5th we will be starting an electronic system called Hlmama. In this program you will receive your child's daily sheets, pictures or videos of your child, how much your child has eaten and how long they napped. The teachers will be documenting your child's activities on a tablet which will allow them to spend less time writing out Daily sheets. and more time with your child!

On September 13th Brian's Music will be coming to do a free trial class for your children. He will be handing out information about his classes that we hope to be offering to your children, if your interested. Any questions please feel free to ask Mrs. Alicia. We are very excited to be able to add more educational programs for your children here at PCCP.
